

Are you passionate about providing marginalized and underserved populations with quality, culturally sensitive and trauma-responsive treatment?

Are you looking for mentored experience working in an Integrated Behavioral Health program at a fast-paced, mission-driven, health center?

ASW FELLOWSHIP IN INTEGRATED BEHAVIORAL HEALTH

-- A collaboration between UC Berkeley LCOEBH and Marin Community Clinics -- provides all of the above plus the ability to complete your supervised hours for licensure in a supportive cohort-model.

Qualifications:

We are looking for bilingual (Spanish/English), ASW-eligible candidates who are interested in providing assessment, treatment, and resourcing to a diverse underserved population while simultaneously obtaining high quality clinical training and supervision of their hours for licensure.

Objectives:

The program will provide high level training in Integrated Behavioral Health (IBH) including multiple evidenced-based treatment models, within the context of providing care to the underserved and culturally diverse population we serve at Marin Community Clinics (MCC).

MCC's Integrated Behavioral Health ASW Fellowship was created to produce highly skilled, culturally sensitive, and trauma aware clinicians who will become the next generation of IBH clinicians and leaders. We welcome applications from diverse applicants and are particularly passionate about mentoring and training Latinx-identified/BIPOC clinicians.

Fellowship Details:

The Fellowship involves monthly didactics promoting the Core Competencies of IBH including a special focus on evidenced-based treatment models.

The fellowship includes:

- weekly clinical supervision
- monthly 1-1 mentorship meetings with Latinx clinicians
- shadowing various providers
- direct patient care
- case management
- resourcing and managing a caseload of individual and group therapy patients.

The fellowship has two tracks- Child and Family Track, and Generalist Track.

The cohort will train together, but responsibilities will differ between the tracks.

Questions? Want to learn more?

Email: Wendy Zepeda, LCSW at wzepeda@marinclinic.org

Visit: www.marinclinics.org